

AMARU IS LOOKING FOR YOU!

Amaru is 8 years old and lives in Chile with his family. He is a happy and inventive child who is passionate about making figures out of play dough and Lego bricks. He is adventurous and has been interested in dinosaurs, hiking and nature from an early age on.

In March, he was diagnosed with bone marrow aplasia - a rare disease of the blood-forming system.

Today, he spends his days in the hospital and only sees his classmates via video call, as any contact can lead to an infection.

To get well again, Amaru now needs a stem cell donation. Register as a potential stem cell donor and give hope to Amaru and other patients worldwide. Together we can save lives!
